

Autumn/Winter 2016-2017 | Wilderness

In our Fall / Winter 16/17 Color palette "Wilderness" we draw inspiration from the beauty and the colors of the mountains in early autumn. The mountains are the places where we put our strength and spirit to a test. As we reach the mountain tops and our eyes meet the blue horizons, our thoughts become clearer, our perceptions broaden, our senses feel more vibrant. We know that at the end of every winding road there is a new exciting discovery awaiting and that the journey is well worth it.

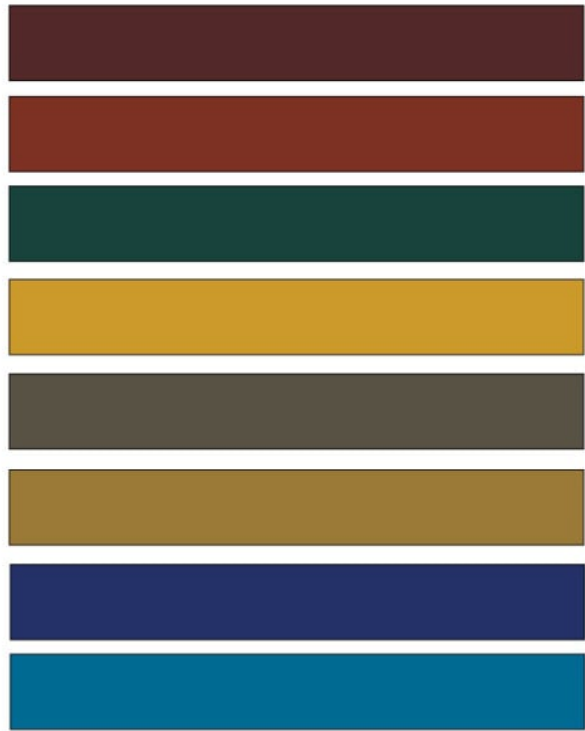

In the serene depths of the mountain woods, we finally find solitude and harmony.

Nature paints with such a rich and vibrant palette of colors and textures, but it does not overwhelm us - it makes us feel relaxed instead. The scents of the forest are enchanting - the aroma of fresh pine, the crisp smell of a late afternoon rain, the zing in the air from freshly brewed mountain tea, made according to a secret recipe from herbs and flowers with healing power.
